Adrian Sneyd, show organiser, said: “With the covid vaccination programme progressing successfully throughout the UK, confidence in the October show has grown rapidly and we are now in discussion with further brands seeking to confirm exhibition stands and also existing exhibitors looking to increase space. After such a difficult year for the industry, it is exciting to experience such positive vibes and everything is pointing towards a bumper show in October. It will be great to see so many new and familiar faces after such a long time.”
